Members of Virginia Delegation in Congress Are Unit Against. the Measure.

JAMESTOWN APPROPRIATION

Outlook for One at Present Session Not Good, Though National Aid Will be Forthcoming.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.-Every member of the Virginia delegation in the washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Every member of the Virginia delegation in the House of Representatives is understood to be opposed to the Machen primary bill, now pending in the Virginia Senate. The members of the delegation do not care, as a rule, to discuss the matter freely for publication, but they have no objection to saying privately that they are unable to see the use of such legislation as is proposed. Though some of them object to specific features of the bill, they do not insist upon these, but are opposed to any general law regulating party primarles, further than the one enacted at the last session, legalizing them in so far as to make the penalities for fraud the same as those provided for the infraction of the laws in this respect that, govern genera's elections. "I do not see the need of any such legislation," said Mr. Flood, "I think the whole matter of choosing the plan of making nominations should be left to the State Committee. It is frequently in session, and changes could be casily made, more casily than by the Legislature. A specific objection to the bill's that it proposes that the judges of the election shall be appointed on the recommendation of the county chairmen."

"I am opposed to the Legislature's enacting any law like the one proposed by Mr. Machen," said Mr. Glass. "There are certain features of the bill which, in my opinion, are objectionable, in addition to the position which I take that the Legislature is not called upon to do any more than it has done. It has made any plan which a party may adopt for the selection of candidates for office have the section with a national or State election."

SOME CHANGES DESIRABLE.

"There should be some changes made in our present primary plan," said Representative Jones, "but I fall to see the peed of the General Assembly's doing more than it has done. I want to see the plan amended so as to provide that it may be optional with the local authorities of the party whether the viva voce method is used in the selection of candidates for local offices. But I want the viva voce method retained in all other elections. There is no need of the enactment of any further law by the General Assembly, after it has a veady made any primary plon legal, and thrown around it all the protection the law can give in the matter of preventing fraud."

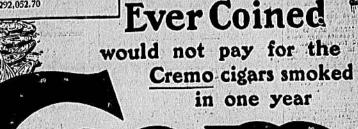

"I want candidates selected in a primary and I want the viva voce method every time," said Representative Lamb. "I have not examined the Machen bill, but I am inclined to think that there is littly used of the General Assembly's selecting the plan of primary."

Captain Lamb was reading The Times-Dispatch of yesterday when I came upon him in the corridor leading to Statuary hall, and had just out out a paragraph, in which it was stated that Captain D. C. Richardson would assuredly be a candidate for the nomination to Congress from the Third District this fall.

"No, I am not scared," he said in response to a question. "I am confident of benig renominated. There is no member of Congress who knows his friends better than I, and I'm sure there are none who is surer of them. Mr. Richardson cannot win." SOME CHANGES DESIRABLE.

The members from the South and the West have about decided to stand together in the fight which will be made for the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland and the Exposition in celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the first permanent Anglo-Saxon settlement in the new world. The Fortland show will be held next year.

The bill giving it more than a million dollars has passed the Senate and will soon be before the House Committee on Expositions. It will have a rough road to travel there. Speaker Cannon, said hast year that he would never, while in Congress, give his aid to another measure making an appropriation for the support of the yexposition enterprise. He is now in the speaker's chair, and in a position to do great harm to the Exposition bill if so disposed. Indeed, if he choose, he can prevent the passage of such a measure by simply refusing to recognize any speaker who may desire to move its consideration.

The effect of this alone would be sufficient to make the fate of the exposition bill a matter of grave apprehensions.

It is the determination of the Republican - leaders that everything shall be skimped in the matter of money at this session. There will not be any general rivers and barbors bill, and while the naval appropriations will amount to thirty millions or thirty-five millions, it is said that they would have been much larger but for the fact that the necessity of keeping down the sum total of appropriations, in order to make a good campaign showing, was fully realized. is danger of a deficit for the next fiscal year as it is.

But there is little doubt that the government will aid the exposition. The members of Congress with whom I have talked—men coming from all sections of the country—have invariably expressed themselves as favorable to the proposition of government aid to a plan of celebration of the anniversary of the founding of the first settlement of English speaking people on the American continent. This is true of men who sit on both sides of the chamber.

Spirited Discussion Over the Panama Question.

"I have repeatedly said that there should not, in my opinion, be any further legislation on the subject of a primary plan for the selection of candidates for office," said Representative Hay, "It may be that the Republicans of Virginia do not care to choose their candidates in that way, and it would not be fair for the Legislature, which is overwhelmingly Democratic, to compel them to do so. I think we would be doling right to let the entire matter alone now, as we have gotten the Legislature to make any plan have the protection of the laws against the protection of the laws against Tauld."

Members of the Virginia delegation in Congress received a letter from Hon. S. Gordon Cumming to-day, asking them to meet him and other members of a committee for the Jamestown Exposition Gompany at the Raleigh Hotel on the evening of February 8th, for the purpose of discussing the bill, which is to be introduced, asking the national government to make an appropriation in aid of the Exposition. There is no one who seems to have anything like an idea of how much will be asked, or the conditions under which the government will be requested to make the gift.

The chances of the appropriation's being made at the present session of Congress are not good. If it is made it will surprise many of the friends of such appropriation, though there are some

AN INQUIRY

Senator Deitrich Asks Investigation of Charges on Which He Was Fined.

MR. MORGAN ON PANAMA

He Holds M. Bunau-Varilla Up in Most Unenviable Light. Attitude of the South,

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 1.-In the Senate' to-day Mr. Dietrich, of Nebraska, made a request for an investi-gation into the charges upon which he was recently tried by a Federal court in his own State and the Senate granted the request, the president pro tempore appointing a committee consisting of Messrs, Floar, Platt, of Connecticut; Spooner, Cockrell and Pettus, to make the inquiry.

Mr. Tillman (South Carolina) suggested that the investigation should be con-ducted by the Committee on Privileges and Elections. He said the charges affected the integrity and honor of the senator from Nebraska and his right to sit in the Senate. On objection by Mr. Burrows, chairman of the committee, to that reference, the resolution offered by Mr. Dietrich was adopted.

Mr. Tillman's resolution instructing the Mr. Tillman's resolution instructing the Secretary of the Treasury to send to the Senate information in regard to the appointment of William D. Crum as collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., was laid before the Senate. Mr. Tillman said he believed he had all the information needed, which could be given by Secretary Shaw and he asked to have printed in the Record, and as a document the communication from the Secretary of War, in regard to recess appointments. He said the information contained in that communication had a direct bearing on the Crum case. The order was made as he recuested.

MR. MORGAN ON PANAMA.

MR. MORGAN ON PANAMA. MR. MORGAN ON PANAMA.

The remainder of the day was devoted to an argument by Mr. Morgan in support of the resolution introduced by Mr. Stone, directing the Senate Committee on Poreign Relations to make an investigation into the Panama revolution. Mr. Morgan again criticised the conduct of M. Bunau-Varilla in connection with the revolt and spoke of the treaty as a concession to the commercial spirit of the age.

accord to endeavor to accomplish the ends they have in the past been trying to reach separately. The co-operation is now practically complete, as was indicated for the dirst time vesterday afteragon. The Protestaid Designification had already enlisted in the movement. Yesterday the Hebrew Charttable organization was represented, and it was announced, further, that Bishop Van de Vyver hal given his hearty approval to the plan and had appointed one of the local prioris to attend as a representative of the Catholics. These facts were particularly grafifying to the new organization.

of M. Bunau-varilla in connection with the ravoit and spoke of the treaty as a concession to the commercial spirit of the age.

The present mister from Panams was held up by Mr. Morgan in a most unenviable light. He read extracts from utterances by M. Bunau-varilla to support his accusations against that, gentleman. The attendance in the Senato was at this time very slim, there being only three Democratic senators present, and they were engaged in conversation. Noting this circumstance, after reading one of these excerpts. Mr. Morgan said; "I'll read it again to this side, of the chamber, which is so much interested in what I have to say."

Mr. Morgan traced the connection of M. Bunau-Virilla with the Panama revolution, and declared that, according to his own showing. Bunau-Varilla should be pronounced persona non grata in the Urited States. He asserted that if a member of Congress were guilty of such conduct as Bunau-Varilla had been guilty of, he would be made) the subject of "condign punishment."

"About this treaty," he went on, "there is an atmosphere of degradation, against which the people revolt."

FORGIVE. BUT NOT FORGET.

Mr. Morgan closed with a reference to his long advocacy of an istmian canal, and to the attitude of the South towards the canal project, saying that section was still "unmoved by mercenary temptation." He proceeded:

"The people of the South will pity and fergive, but will not forget such as can find excuse in their fears of, upstart despotism for the acceptance of gifts that are stained with fraud and are gathered from the wreck of the Constitution, the statutes enacted by Congress and the laws of nations. We cannot if we would convince those who live, or those who will live, that it is honorable or just or reasonable to assist any main who may be Fresident in the violation of the Constitution or the laws of the land. We cannot mark down the people of the South to the figure in commercial politics that accepts a favor of any party, or any man, as the price of its support of men, who particularly gratifying to the new organization.

The movement promises to be great in its results. It has brought out one fact clearly, and for the first time ade quately—that there is an immense amount of charitable work being done in Richmond, and that there is no need for any to suffer. The Presbyterian representative, Dr. Russell Cecil. of the Second Church, particularly remarked upon this first list night. "The city can take care of its poor," he said, in effect. "It will be possible to help everybody, and no one need go without bread or fuel." This revelation is exceedingly encouraging at a time when the midwinter weather is harsh and hitter to the last degree.

The meeting of the board of directors at St. Paul's yesterday afternoon was largely of a routine character so far as actual business transactions were concerned.

The Catholic priest, who was to represent his church, was sick and could not attend, but it was officially announced that Bishop Van de Vyver had readily agreed to co-operate in the work. The Hebrew Association was represented by Mr. Milton Strause. Representatives from the Episcopalians, the Pre-byterians, the Bap Episcopalians, the Pressyderins, the Billists, the Methodists, and the Disciples were present. Among the charitable organizations in the board are the Cliv Mission, the Citizens' Relief Association and the Cliv Almshouse. The meetings will be held hereafter at Lee Camp or at who are

The two rules referred to are as follows:

"21. The postmaster int each office from which rural free delivery emanates shall furnish the Rural Carrier Examining Board with a certified copy of lists containing the names of the heads of all the families residing on and patronizing each of the rural free delivery routes from his office

"22. Whenever five or more patrons of a rural free delivery route submit to the Rural Carrier Examining Board. In writing, over their own signatures, sworn statemen's that an applicant is unsuitable for appointment, giving specific reasons therefor, each of the heads of families may be requested by the Rural Carrier Examining Board to express an ophion as to the fitness of such applicant. If, upon the evidence thus submitted, it is shown to the satisfaction of the commission that the applicant is not suitable for appointment, his name shall be stricken from the register. The sworn statements referred to in this section must be submitted before certification is made, otherwise they will not be considered."

OVER-CROWDED AND FIRED UPON BY DRUNKEN MAN

Car Full of People Frightened by the Wild Antics of Intoxi cated Young White Man.

Conductor Joseph W. (Doc) Daniels, of the Main Street line of the Richmond Passenger and Power Company, was fired upon five times Saturday by a young white man under the influence of liquor. Fortunately the shots went wild, but Daniels says his escape was miraculous.

Daniels was making his last trip, and when his car passed Seventh and Louisiana Streets, a well dressed young white man, under the influence of liquor, boarded the car. The conductor asked the man for his fare, and he refused to pay and became very insulting in his remarks.

"You will have to either pay your fare or get off the car," Daniels said to the fellow.

This remark seemed to incense the young man. He conductor stopped the car to put him off, when he agreed to pay the fare. This he did, and asked for a transfer to Twenty-first Street. The conductor issued the transfer and went out on the platform.

The car soon reached Twenty-first, and the young man stepped off, saying:

"I will get even with you."

He walked a few steps from the car and pulled a revolver out and fired five times at Daniels as the car moved along. The young man was too drunk to handle his weapon and the shots went wild. One of them struck the top of the platform. There were a number of passengers on the car, including three ladies, who were much excited.

Daniels said yesterday afternoon that he would know the young man if he saw him again.
